From the original review in The Brooklyn Daily Eagle, August, 1935: Willa Cather's Lucy Gayheart gropes a wistful way back to the time of the horse and buggy, when some men and some women loved deeply and truly and make themselves miserable and hugged their misery.

Lucy Gayheart by Willa Cather (1935) - a review ...

Willa Cather was a writer of frontier novels in which Nature — the landscape, the weather, the seasons — is a major character, frequently set in contrast with the big city, usually Chicago. So it is with Lucy Gayheart, written in 1935, as I discuss in a separate post. Yet, something else is at play here as well.
